

Diversified Managed Account Strategies

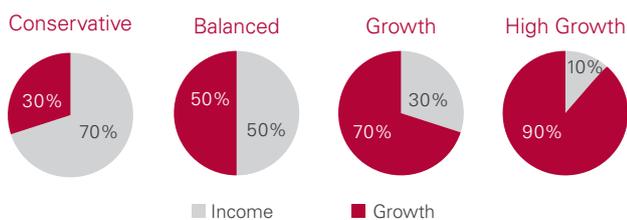

Advisers are increasingly using managed accounts to provide clients with a professionally managed, tax-effective investment solution, whilst increasing the efficiency and scale of their business.

Vanguard's Diversified Managed Account Strategies encompass four low-cost multi-sector index portfolios which not only offer choice for different investors, but also help streamline traditional portfolio construction and monitoring — freeing up your time to focus on client relationships and business needs.

With conservative, balanced, growth and high growth options available, Vanguard Diversified Managed Account Strategies allow you to leverage the benefits of strategic asset allocation and broad diversification, while automatic rebalancing means portfolio allocations are maintained so that you don't have to spend the time managing this process.

Diversified Managed Account Strategies

Vanguard's Diversified Managed Account Strategies invest primarily in a range of high quality ETFs, providing broad exposure to domestic and international equities, as well as fixed interest.

The key objective of each portfolio is to maximise the chances of investment success by providing low-cost solutions that meet the risk appetite of most investors.

Take advantage of Vanguard's proven experience

Vanguard's Diversified Managed Account Strategies are created and maintained by our Investment Strategy Group, which is responsible for overseeing Vanguard's investment methodology, including portfolio construction and asset allocation modelling.

The group draws on more than 40 years of portfolio management experience at Vanguard to ensure that our portfolios reflect our investment philosophy. We believe that investors maximise their chance of success when they select and stick with asset allocations that reflect their goals, time horizons and tolerance for risk; diversify broadly within each asset class; and minimise the costs of investing.

Why choose a managed account?

Managed accounts have seen significant growth in recent years, with advisers increasingly recommending them to clients. In fact, from 2018 to 2019, managed account usage grew significantly from 30% to 35%².

With portfolio implementation, rebalancing and reporting taken care of, managed accounts allow you to spend less time on compliance and administration and more time on activities that add value for your business and clients.

Managed accounts can also offer a range of benefits for clients:

Tax effective: A managed account is not a pooled investment, so the client is typically the direct owner of the portfolio's underlying assets. This means they do not inherit existing tax positions (such as with managed funds). Instead, the client's tax position is their own.

Transparent: Investors view the underlying securities held. In changing markets you can track the performance of individual holdings.

Cost effective: With managed accounts, trades are typically consolidated, which means the brokerage is spread across a number of investors. Your client may pay lower brokerage than they would pay if trading listed securities or ETFs directly.
